

TIGHE IS REBUKED.

Mayor Boody Apologizes for the Ill-Treatment of the Vikings.

Brooklyn Will Do Its Best to Wipe Away the Stigma.

A Hearing to Be Granted the Norsemen To-Morrow.

Capt. Magnus Andersen, of the Viking, accompanied by Lawrence August Reymert, went over to Brooklyn this morning, to get satisfaction for their outrageous treatment by the Brooklyn police early yesterday.

Capt. Andersen went over on the Wall Street Ferry with Mr. Reymert, and on the boat they met Gen. C. T. Christensen, President of the Brooklyn Trust Company.

Gen. Christensen is one of the most prominent Scandinavians in the City of Churches.

Capt. Andersen told Gen. Christensen of his proposed visit to Mayor Boody, and Gen. Christensen volunteered to accompany him to the City Hall and present him to the Mayor.

The little party had nearly passed the huge columns in front of the City Hall before the fact that they had arrived spread all through the city buildings.

Capt. Andersen and his friends went at once to the Mayor's office, where they were very cordially greeted by Mayor Boody.

Gen. Christensen stated the object of the visit to Mayor Boody, and the Mayor, who had been sent to what he could to see matters straight.

He sent at once for Police Commissioner Henry D. Hayden and Police Justice Tighe, Gen. Christensen took leave.

Capt. Andersen and Mr. Reymert were then escorted with the Mayor and Commissioner Hayden to the City Hall.

Justice Tighe, who had been waiting for the Mayor, was looking very much the worse for his hurried journey.

He was at once admitted to the conference, which lasted fully fifteen minutes.

Capt. Andersen, in telling what occurred before the Mayor and Commissioner, said:

"The Mayor treated us very courteously indeed. He said he wanted to apologize for the treatment of the Vikings, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow."

The Mayor said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

He said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow, and he said he would like to have a hearing to-morrow.

LOUIS HELD FOR REQUISITION.

The Twelve-Year-Old Boy Will Be Taken to New Jersey.

He Declares Bertie Wagner Was Shot Accidentally.

Louis Wood, the little fellow, twelve years old, charged with the murder of Bertie Wagner, the three-year-old son of Louis Wagner, a farmer, living near Freehold, N. J., was held to await requisition papers by Justice Walsh in the Adams Street Police Court, Brooklyn, this morning.

Although the boy is to his thirteenth year he is very small and appears about nine years of age.

While Clerk Quinn was making out the proper papers in the case, Louis sat on the bench, looking at the boy with a look of intense interest.

Just before the boy sat on the bench, Louis said to him: "Bertie, I shot you accidentally."

Louis said a good deal and said he did not want to be taken away from his mother.

Constantine Strong told Justice Walsh the story of the shooting, based on circumstantial evidence.

He said that Louis had been sent from Brooklyn to work on Mr. Wagner's farm about a week ago, but that he had been sent back to Brooklyn because he was too young.

Saturday afternoon Farmer Wagner discharged the boy from his farm, and he was followed by little Bertie, the three-year-old son of Louis.

There were two shots in the room. One was an old double-barreled rifle and the other was a single-barreled gun.

Wagner was at work in the kitchen when the shooting occurred. She rushed upstairs and met Wood coming down pale and trembling.

She said that Louis had been on the floor, shot in the head.

He lived about five minutes.

Wood said he was lying by his side with one barrel empty.

Young Wood came back and said Bertie was lying on the floor, shot in the head.

Then he packed his worldly goods in a cigar-box and came to Brooklyn.

To an "Evening World" reporter Louis said: "I did not shoot a farmer. I didn't like him. Bertie shot himself. I don't want to go away from mamma."

The boy will be cared for by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children until the requisition papers arrive, when he will be taken to Freehold.

HOWELL, N. J., June 20.—Special Detective Charles E. Strong, of the Freehold police, who was on duty at the house of Louis Wagner, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

Wagner, of the Freehold police, told the following story of the shooting.

MRS. POMEROY'S ADVENTURE.

Upset in a Patrol Wagon and Fined $1 for Being Drunk.

Mrs. Laura Pomero, of 85 Sands street, Brooklyn, was fined $1 for being drunk in the Adams Street Police Court, this morning for being drunk.

A message was received at Police Headquarters last evening that a woman had attempted suicide at 85 Sands street.

The lower Fulton street police sent a patrol wagon in charge of James J. Keating, driver; Charles J. Pugh, conductor; and P. H. Heenan, guard, to the house.

When they arrived at the house, Mrs. Pomero was lying on the sidewalk, surrounded by a crowd.

The horses were turning down Fulton street and the patrol wagon was caught in the railroad switch, and the vehicle was overturned.

Officer McLaughlin struck the sidewalk on his side and was badly bruised about the hip. Driver Keating was also injured about the hip and sprained his right arm.

Mrs. Pomero and conductor Pugh escaped without a scratch. Mrs. Pomero was examined by a doctor, who said she showed no signs of having been injured.

Edward Cole, provision dealer, 218 Rutledge street.

Sim Salmon, underwear, 434 Henry street.

Charles P. Oakley, merchant tailor, 223 McDonough street.

The jury secured the remaining jurors dragged wearily along for a few hours, when three more candidates were accepted. The additional jurors are:

George B. Roach, real estate, 306 Skillman street.

Thomas G. Maunson, builder, 93 South Portland avenue.

Robert H. Craig, real estate, 500 Belmont avenue.

During the examination of Mr. Maunson it was learned that although he had taken very little interest in the Columbian, he was a frequent reader of the paper.

They were married Oct. 16, 1884, and have had four children. Mrs. McCalumount says that her husband has treated her cruelly for the last thirteen years.

He is a boss puppet, and carries on business in a most unbusinesslike manner. He has an income of $100 a week. He also owns real estate on Schenck street and on Fulton street.

Mrs. McCalumount alleges that her husband has been a frequent companion of one Doris A. Hare, who is a well-known actress.

She said that Hare had been in the treatment of his daughter Virginia has been outrageous.

Mrs. McCalumount alleges that when she accused her husband he gave her two black eyes. In January, 1892, she said, he kicked her out of bed.

Mrs. McCalumount says that after she was driven from the house it took three policemen to get her back into the house.

Mrs. McCalumount's defense is a general denial of the charges. She says that when her husband struck her, he says, he was simply defending himself.

GLEASON TOO ILL TO APPEAR.

A Demurrer to the Indictment Will Be Argued Thursday.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., June 20.—Lawyer Van Vleeten appeared to-day before Judge Bartlett in the Queens County Court of Oyer and Terminer as counsel for ex-Mayor Gleason, ex-City Clerk Thomas P. Burke and Private Secretary Philip J. Coffey, who are under indictment for conspiracy and attempt to defraud the city government.

Bartlett and Coffey appeared in court. Gleason was presented to the Court to answer the indictment. He was unable to appear on account of illness, and was attended twice a day by a physician.

The indictment charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

PICKING JURORS TO TRY M'KEE.

Slow Work in Getting a Panel for the Brooklyn Alderman.

A Few New Names Added to Those Already Chosen.

The work of securing a jury to try Alderman William McKee, charged with complicity in the alleged Columbian frauds, was continued in the Court of Sessions in Brooklyn to-day.

The court-room was well filled when the proceedings opened, and in less than half an hour afterwards the air was stifling.

District Attorney Ridgway examined the talesmen for the people, and Lawyer Edward O'Dwyer looked after the interests of the defendant.

The jurors selected for the trial were: Edward Cole, provision dealer, 218 Rutledge street.

Sim Salmon, underwear, 434 Henry street.

Charles P. Oakley, merchant tailor, 223 McDonough street.

The jury secured the remaining jurors dragged wearily along for a few hours, when three more candidates were accepted. The additional jurors are:

George B. Roach, real estate, 306 Skillman street.

Thomas G. Maunson, builder, 93 South Portland avenue.

Robert H. Craig, real estate, 500 Belmont avenue.

During the examination of Mr. Maunson it was learned that although he had taken very little interest in the Columbian, he was a frequent reader of the paper.

They were married Oct. 16, 1884, and have had four children. Mrs. McCalumount says that her husband has treated her cruelly for the last thirteen years.

He is a boss puppet, and carries on business in a most unbusinesslike manner. He has an income of $100 a week. He also owns real estate on Schenck street and on Fulton street.

Mrs. McCalumount alleges that her husband has been a frequent companion of one Doris A. Hare, who is a well-known actress.

She said that Hare had been in the treatment of his daughter Virginia has been outrageous.

Mrs. McCalumount alleges that when she accused her husband he gave her two black eyes. In January, 1892, she said, he kicked her out of bed.

Mrs. McCalumount says that after she was driven from the house it took three policemen to get her back into the house.

Mrs. McCalumount's defense is a general denial of the charges. She says that when her husband struck her, he says, he was simply defending himself.

GLEASON TOO ILL TO APPEAR.

A Demurrer to the Indictment Will Be Argued Thursday.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., June 20.—Lawyer Van Vleeten appeared to-day before Judge Bartlett in the Queens County Court of Oyer and Terminer as counsel for ex-Mayor Gleason, ex-City Clerk Thomas P. Burke and Private Secretary Philip J. Coffey, who are under indictment for conspiracy and attempt to defraud the city government.

Bartlett and Coffey appeared in court. Gleason was presented to the Court to answer the indictment. He was unable to appear on account of illness, and was attended twice a day by a physician.

The indictment charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

The indictment also charges that Gleason, Burke and Coffey conspired to defraud the city government, and to obtain money from the city treasury.

ALLEGED DYNAMITER HERE.

James Gilbert Cunningham Arrives from an English Prison.

Released After Serving Eight Years of a Life Sentence.

James Gilbert Cunningham, the young Irishman convicted of having exploded dynamite in the English House of Parliament, and who was recently released from a life sentence, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served eight years of a life sentence, arrived on the American line steamer Chester from Liverpool to-day.

Cunningham, who is now twenty-seven years of age, and looks very pale and worn, did not stand the passage well, and the friends who met him at the hotel, where he was accommodated in the Irishman charged with the explosion of the House of Commons, arrived here to-day, having served